BUFF AND BLUE NINE DEFEATS ROCHESTER 3-0

Hamilton Annexes Fourth Straight Victory of the Season in Easy Style

KNOX HURLS AIRTIGHT BALL

Warren and Worboys Lead in Heavy Batting Attack

The Buff and Blue baseball team annexed its fourth straight victory of the season last Saturday by whitewashing the University of Rochester 3-0 here. Knox's airtight pitching and his teammates' improved batting were largely responsible for the victory.

Knox pitched practically irreproachable ball, allowing the Flower City men only three safeties and fantimely double brought in the first run ning eight men. Besides that, his of the game. Ernie Warren and Worboys were the heavy guns of the game, the former making two hits and two runs while the latter was responsible for two of the runs by his timely doubles.

At only one period of the entire game did the visitors threaten to score—the second inning when a double play, McLean to Church to Worboys, ruined the visitors' best chance to cross the plate.

Hamilton's first score came in the fifth. Hassard opened the inning with a scratch hit to center field. Jack King made an infield hit and Hassard was out at second on fielder's choice. Frank Pierce was out at first, but Knox hit a long fly to center field, good for two bases, and King came home to score Hamilton's first run. McLean fouled to Zotnov to end the inning.

In the sixth Ernie Warren made first by pitcher's error, stole second, and came home on Worboy's two-base hit to center field. Hassard bunted and found himself trapped off first.

In the ninth inning Kenyon ground-

GABOON PARTY NUMBER COMES OUT SATURDAY

Hamilton welcomes back an old friend Saturday when the Royal Gaboon will once more appear on the campus after an absence of over a year. The Chaperon, which took up the work left by the old Royal Gaboon, has been merged with the former publication in an effort to publish the best possible humorous magazine for Hamilton.

This joint issue, to be known as the Spring House Party number, will be the final issue this term. It was thought that a Graduation Number might be brought out but this has been found to be impracticable this year.

The cover was designed by Earl Huggins, ex-'29, the former art editor, with lettering done by Don Strong, '28. The frontispiece was drawn by Yuan and in the opinion of many it surpasses anything of a similar nature done by him. Other drawings have been contributed by Dold, '27, Goodwin, '27, Harwood, '03, and Hixson, '30. This issue will contain more cuts than ever appeared before in any Hamilton College humorous publication.

The editorial staff of the Royal Gaboon has written many humorous articles and contributions have been received from Mulligan, '27, and Macmillan, '29, which are especially good.

In fact, every department will be improved. Because of the wealth of material submitted, the magazine will have four more pages than usual.

HAMILTONIAN ELECTS ADVERTISING MANAGER

Announcement has been made of the election of William J. Foley, '29, as advertising manager of the 1929 Hamiltonian. The position is a new one and was created by the new staff of the Hamiltonian to divide more evenly the duties of the business department. Foley was one of the competitors for this position this year and the good work he did in securing new advertisements makes him well qualified for the position. He has also been active in athletics, and is a member of Chi Beta Sigma.

CHARLATANS SELECT COMMENCEMENT PLAY

Will Give "The Bad Man" as Annual Spring Production

After considering a large number of plays for the annual Commencement presentation, the Charlatans have chosen Porter Emerson Browne's "The Bad Man" for production this spring. "The Bad Man" is described as being a satirical comedy in three acts. Holbrook Blinn, playing Lopez, the bandit, in the original cast in New York, made of the title role one of the most successful in his long career.

The scene of the play is laid in a ranch house on the Mexican border. A mortgage is about to be foreclosed on the property by the tight-fisted Jasper Hardy. Gil Jones, owner of the ranch, is at a loss to discover any means of saving it until Lopez, the Bad Man, enters and furnishes him with a solution at once novel and exciting.

Throughout the play there runs a vein of genial humor that sets in relief the fast, thrilling action to make on the hole a play of unusually fine staging possibilities. The role of the Bad Man gives an opportunity for clever acting, and the supporting roles, for the most part, demand careful interpretation.

Try-outs for the play will be held some time during the week. C. P. Goodwin, president of the Charlatans, hopes that a large number will compete for parts as the play requires 13 characters for presentation.

No definite announcement can yet be made concerning the prize play to be put on next Friday evening, and until then the author, actors, title, and subject of the play will not be revealed. It is reported that rehearsals, which have been going on for the past week, are progressing favorably, and the play should be in good shape for production Friday.

BUFF AND BLUE BOWS BEFORE UNION NET MEN

In a totally one-sided contest held last Friday, the Hamilton tennis team bowed to Union 6-0. The Buff and Blue was simply outclassed by a superior team that allowed only one match to go the full three sets.

Davenport staged the only threatening game of the afternoon when he opened the meet against Fisher of Union. After winning the first set 2-6, Davenport fell before the visitor's dazzling attack and lost the next two frames 6-1, 7-5.

Following Davenport's lead, the other three Hamilton players dropped their matches to Union. McGregor and Warfield gave their opponents little trouble and lost in straight sets. After a prolonged duece-add see-saw, Ballard gave in to Lauks of Union 6-0, 6-0.

Bad luck continued with Hamilton in the doubles where Union took both matches in the first two sets. Davenport and McGregor showed the only flashes of form for the local team losing 6-4, 6-4.

The summary: Singles:

Fisher U, beat Davenport H, 2-6, 6-1, 7-5. Wright U beat McGregor H 6-4, 6-0; Peets U beat Warfield H 6-3, 6-2. Lauks U beat Ballard H 6-0, 6-0.

Doubles: Wright and Peets U beat Davenport and McGregor H 6-4, 6-4. Fisher and Lauks U beat Ballard and Reed H, 6-0, 6-0.

The following have been selected to serve on the 1929 Hamiltonian Board: George Clark, Jr., Robert Gage, Frederick Ellison, Theodore Ingalls, William T. Campbell, William Stevens, Lloyd V. Almirall, and Robert Lake.

Hamilton Choir Wins First Prize In Eisteddfod Contest

Audience of 4,000 Hears Hamilton's Choir Judged Winner of $500 Prize in Welsh Song Contest Held in Utica last Friday—Union Rated Second and Syracuse Third.

Singing to an enthusiastic audience of nearly 4,000 persons under a Big Top tent, the Hamilton College Choir, under the direction of its capable leader, Professor Fancher, scored a brilliant victory over the choirs of Union and Syracuse in the collegiate song contest of the national Welsh Eisteddfod held at Utica last Friday night.

The singing of all the choirs was of great excellence, Union taking second place, and Syracuse third. The competition was for a $1,000 purse, the sum being divided into $500, $300, and $200 prizes for the organizations in order of merit.

The positions in the order of appearance was determined by lot. Each choir sang as its first number, "The Bellman," a musical description of the night of Shakespeare's death; and as its third and last number each sang the Alma Mater of the college it represented. Union, singing first, used as a second number, "Good News Chariot," a negro spiritual. Hamilton's second number, as the second in appearance, was Mendelssohn's "The Righteous Living Forever," in the Latin, while Syracuse sang a rustic choral piece called "In Harvest Time." The alma mater songs were not used as matter for the awarding of the prize.

The judges of the contest were Dr. T. Hopkins Evans of Liverpool, England, who came to the Eisteddfod for the sole purpose of judging the singing, and Pierre V. R. Keye of New York.

In giving the adjudication, Dr. Evans expressed his surprise at the high quality of singing. "And yet," he said, "Tonight we have heard three highly artistic performances. It reflects great credit on the choirs, their directors and the institutions concerned." In addition to the Choir's winning the first prize, Mr. Fancher, as director, was presented with a gold medal suitably engraved with the emblem of the National Eisteddfod of America. A synopsis of the criticism of the adjudication follows:

Union: "A good choir, showing good training, but having a tone a little too nasal; a real effort toward creating the artistic; singing of a pronounced rhythmic verve."

Hamilton: "Excellent attacks, rich and legitimately musical, the bass particularly making an exquisite opening of "The Bellman"; in the second number more deliberation and head resonance would have helped, but just the same it is a good choir, and they know how to sing."

Syracuse: "Pitch a little uncertain, and a manifest lack of tonal culture; however, a good tenor section; on the whole, singing of a diffident quality."

The ranking of the choirs on the two pieces judged was made on a 100 point basis for each number. The tabulation of the scoring:

	The Bellman	2nd No.	Total
Hamilton	86	85	171
Union,	83	85	168
Syracuse	79	81	160

Last Sunday night the Choir made its final appearance away from home for the school year at Rome, where they gave a recital before an enthusiastic capacity audience in the First Presbyterian Church. Members of the Choir left the Hill for Rome in taxis Sunday afternoon about 4:30, and upon their arrival were served a supper by the ladies of the church in the parish house. The arrangements for the concert were due largely to the efforts of Mrs. James H. Taylor, a former resident of Clinton.

Ten Crowds Will Entertain At Annual Spring House Party

Once more the Hill will be the scene of dazzling beauty and winsome smiles when all the fraternities except the Emerson Literary Society, which lost its house through fire, will entertain this week-end at the annual spring house party. Several games, tea dances, and a play by the Charlatans will help pass the time.

The party will come as the climax of weeks of strenuous preparation, of polishing floors, and of sometimes long-planning and sometimes hastily-arranging of dates. The guests will probably number well over 150 and will undoubtedly be the best representatives of the best of the eastern girls' colleges.

A busy time is assured the visitors. On Friday afternoon a baseball game with Oberlin will start the activities. In the evening a play, the winner of the Woollcott Prize, will be presented by the Charlatans. After this the fraternities will hold open dances. Saturday afternoon the main attraction will be a track meet with Rochester. Several tea dances will also be given in the afternoon, followed by private dances given by the fraternities.

PRESS BOARD ELECTS LYON NEW CHAIRMAN

At a meeting of the Press Board held last Thursday morning in the Chapel Reginald W. Lyon, '28, of Cortland was elected chairman of the Press Board for the coming year. Lyon has served on the Press Board for three years and has throughout his membership done unusually good work in the competition. He is well qualified to take the position of chairman, consisting of all the publicity writing done here for publication in the newspapers.

Lyon, who is a credit student, is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

1928 HAMILTONIAN APPEARS THIS WEEK

Unusual Photographs and Snap-shots Feature Yearbook

Barring accidents and possible delays, according to Editor in chief Gilbert of the 1928 Hamiltonian, the annual junior yearbook will appear on the Hill in time for distribution at house party. The book is at present in the hands of the binders in Utica, who are rapidly completing the last step in the manufacture of the book and it is quite probable that delivery will be made before the end of the week. The staff makes no promises, however.

The cover, upon which is embossed a bust of Alexander Hamilton, was designed and manufactured by Molloy and is artistically decorated in red on a black background, red and black being the class colors. The stamping on the back of the cover, to enable the title of the book to be read from the shelf, is a feature that has been retained this year. This was done for the first time by the 1927 Hamiltonian.

The Willard Press of Boonville, printers of the Hamilton College Bulletin and the Masonic Magazine, have done a very satisfactory piece of printing according to Business Manager Tatlock. An attractive, simple border in blue running through the book adds an effective touch of color, the rest of the book being reproduced in black. All of the engravings, which were done by the Hammersmith-Kortmeyer Company of Milwaukee, Wis., have been handled by the printers in a most creditable way.

An engraving of Dr. Albro D. Morrill, to whom the book is dedicated, is one of the outstanding pieces of art work in the annual. The engraving was made in Philadelphia from a photograph recently taken. A view section of eight pages, containing some attractive reproductions of campus scenes, all of which are new,

HAMILTON WINS FROM COLGATE BY 2-1 SCORE

Bunched Hits in Sixth and Seventh Account for Hamilton's Two Tallies

MORRIS GOES ROUTE ON MOUND

Continues to Pitch After Dislocating Left Shoulder

Winning its third straight victory of the season, the Hamilton nine triumphed over the powerful Colgate University team 2-1 on the Hill Wednesday. So far the Buff and Blue tossers have been defeated only by Syracuse, and have downed Rochester, Rennselaer, and Colgate.

The game was featured by the stellar work of Jack Morris, who besides allowing his Maroon opponents only six well scattered hits, turned in a double. At the same time the infield and outfield gave him almost errorless support.

By timely strike-outs, Morris and Scholtz, crack Maroon twirler, made the game a pitcher's contest. In the fourth inning both teams hit safely when the Maroon players registered two singles, and Church accounted for one for the home team, but neither side scored.

With one man out in the next inning, Bridges clouted a double, stole third, and scored Colgate's only tally on Welch's sacrifice fly. With two out, Richardson was caught in an attempt to steal second and the side was retired.

In the sixth Pierce flied out, but Morris dropped a neat two base hit to left center. However, for a minute this seemed more than offset when his left shoulder was hurt sliding back into second. Warren went in to run for him. After Cpatain Mac Lean went out on a long fly, Knox tripled, bringing Warren in for the first tally.

Having put the Colgate representatives out on three successive flies, the

HAMILTON IS HOST TO DEANS OF NEW ENGLAND

Hamilton was host to deans from 21 Eastern colleges and universities at the annual sessions of the New England Association of College Deans held here last Friday and Saturday. The visiting deans were guests of the faculty at luncheon Friday noon, and dined at the Yahnundasis Golf Club Friday evening.

The purpose of this organization, which is in actuality a sort of club, is "mutual benefit and open discussion of the problems of college life." Although closed sessions only were held throughout the two days of conference, it is understood that one question discussed was "What to do with the automobile on the campus." No vote was taken on the matter.

Those who were present at the various meetings, included: President Frederick C. Ferry and Dean Edward Fitch, Hamilton; President George D. Olds and Dean Thomas E. Estey, of Amherst; Dean W. M. Warren, Boston University; Dean Paul Nixon, Bowdoin College; Dean Otis E. Randall, Brown University; Dean Herbert A. Hawkes, Columbia University; Dean Craven Laycock, Dartmouth; Dean James S. Stevens, University of Maine; Dean Frank Nicholson, Wesleyan; Dean George E. Howes, Williams; Dean Frederick S. Jones and Professor Robert N. Corwin, Yale University; Dean-elect C. A. Hanford, Harvard University. Dean Nicholson is secretary of the organization.

"Y" TAKES COLLECTION FOR MISS. FLOOD RELIEF

A total of $72.71 was given by the undergraduates of Hamilton College as their share of the fund which is being raised for the relief of the flooded districts of the lower Mississippi Valley. The campaign was part of a nation-wide effort to raise money to provide food, shelter and clothing for the people whom the floods had rendered paupers.

The local campaign was carried on under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A., with President Corby at the head.

SCHOLARSHIP AND THE UNDERGRADUATE

Editor's Note—This is the first of a series of three editorials on the three main topics of undergraduate life: scholarship, athletics, and other extra-curricular activities, written by a trio of Seniors prominent in these departments. The purpose of these articles is not to afford the men an opportunity to work off any old grudges, but rather, to allow men who have been closely connected with these questions during their college course to express their honest opinions of the existing situations.

"That nearly all Americans count themselves competent to estimate and severely criticize present-day education finds much evidence," said a well-known educator recently. This editorial is not intended to increase the evidence on the subject. Hamilton is the only college with which a Hamilton College man has any definite acquaintance. Hence, there will be none of the references to "education in general," which from undergraduates are not only unauthoritative, but which have also become a bit wearisome. References are strictly confined to education at Hamilton, and to the attitude of the average Hamilton College man toward scholarship—an attitude we do not feel competent to say is better or worse than that existing at other institutions.

In externals—in form, in principle, and in catalog—Hamilton College is an institution which is highly interested in scholarship. It is certainly not an overstatement to add that the majority of students in the college have come to Clinton with the intention of receiving an education with the aid of the faculty. There have been men of mediocre scholarship and large participation in extra-curricular activities, who have left Hamilton College with the valedictory that the college is all wrong, and that the only good they have received from their four years has come from their extra-curricular work. Such men, however, have no right to criticise the college; they came here of their own free will when, according to their own admission, they should have spent four years in a business school or a country club. Ironically enough, these same men are frequently the men whom Hamilton College undergraduates regard as having done the most for their college. To do so much for an institution whose faculty has done nothing for them, is altruistic, to say the least.

Naturally enough, there are also men in college who have not done very much either in scholarship or in extra-curricular activities. These comprise the majority of the college and range from freshmen who haven't had a chance to do anything, to seniors who "haven't cared to." It is to this group to which one must refer in discussing the undergraduate's attitude toward scholarship; they are the "vox populi" for whose benefit the college is run, for whom it exists, and without them it could not exist. These men have perhaps done as much in scholarship as in outside activities; they have come to college primarily for curricular reasons—for as they are outstanding in nothing, they would have no other temptation—yet it is their evidently unbiased opinion that the man who has done well in extra-curricular activities, with evident damage to his curricular duties, has done more for the college than the man who stands high scholastically to the detriment of extra-curricular interests. Otherwise, the members of class honorary societies would not receive support from undergraduates. It is barely possible that the "vox populi" realize that they either came or were sent to Hamilton because of its high scholarship standard, and that men of high scholarship keep up this standard. Be that as it may, the average undergraduate looks on scholarship as "all right if you go in for that thing"; he regards it patronizingly as impractical, unless one intends to be a college professor. the college is attempting to remedy this situation by increasing the faculty Perhaps in many cases it is something to be scrapped at the end of four years.

As has been inferred before, there are undergraduates of high scholarship.

Perhaps Hamilton College does not do all it can to promote a scholarly attitude. There are undergraduates who believe this. There are certain members of the faculty who would seem to be heartily in accord with this view, if one might judge them by their classroom utterances. Perhaps the classes are too large to discuss matters in an interesting and scholarly manner; perhaps the class is too likely to deteriorate into a one-sided discussion which the professor varies very little from year to year. In any case,

Perhaps the college caters to the average student. Here again, the college has attained a comparatively "high degree of mediocrity."

lege is trying to raise the average by more rigid entrance requirements, and

What is the real undergraduate attitude on scholarship? Who can tell? Outwardly it is patronizing; inwardly perhaps it is otherwise. But there is still the "vox populi", ever rising in standard, perhaps, but yet a race of students who look askance at an undergraduate Phi Beta Kappa key, who rightly believe that scholarship is its own reward, and who firmly act accordingly.

ed out to Church. Titus, Rochester left fielder, dropped a Texas Leaguer over McLean's heat and was safe at first. He was out at second on Zotnow's grounder, and a moment later Forney ended the game by striking out.

Hamilton played good ball in the field. Besides a brilliant double play in the second inning, they stopped a Rochester rally in the third. When Calderman attempted to steal second, Chatfield made a pretty throw which was intercepted by McLean and thrown back in time to catch Apperman, who was on third.

ONLY TWO MEN ELECTED TO DELTA SIGMA RHO

Despite the growing interest shown in debating this year, only two men, Frederick A. Ballard, '28, and Francis E. Mineka, '29, were able to meet the qualifications for election to Delta Sigma Rho, the national honorary forensic fraternity. To be eligible for membership, a man must have spoken in one or more intercollegiate debates and have shown an active interest in debating for two consecutive years.

Ballard was a working alternate on the debate team that met Lafayette last year and this year he took part in the Union debate.

Mineka also took part in the Lafayette debate last year and represented Hamilton at the debate at Wells this year.

Although only two were chosen this year, there are many promising candidates who have done consistently good work throughout the year but who have not fulfilled the qualification of taking an active interest in debating for two consecutive years. Next year it is expected that a large number will qualify for the honor.

The present active chapter consists of: Ian J. Bald, '27, Hamilton H. Bookhout, '27, Paul H. Hays, '28, Archibald K. Roberts, '28, and George G. Tyler, '27. As all but Roberts and Hays will graduate this year, next year's chapter will consists of but four active members.

The initiaton of Ballard and Mineka will probably take place in about three weeks and will be followed by an election of officers for next year.

Moister Lather
SMOOTHER Shaves

WILLIAMS Shaving Cream works up fast into a rich bulky lather simply saturated with moisture. This super-moist, saturated lather soaks into the beard bristles until they are completely softened. That's why there is no razor "pull" with Williams, why all blades seem sharper. Williams leaves the face glove-smooth. Two sizes, 35c and 50c.

FIVE GUESSES ABOUT THE MYSTERY PLAY

1. A musical comedy with Brink at the Leading Lady.
2. A tragedy entitled "Modern Educational Theories," by Winnie Davenport with Bob Amos playing the ingenue.
3. A vaudeville show with two acts. In one Warner juggles with the tennis team, Burton, and Prettyman, all at the same time and then apologizes. In the other those inveterate buddies, Fancher and Davis, act out "But Why Go On?"
4. A burlesque of a Greek 2 class in which Bull gaily remarks, "Only 44 out of 60 have flunked so far but the returns aren't all in yet."
5. An original interpretation of the house party theme in which the women are women and the men are sober.

Turn on the sunshine

WHEN Greek or calculus gets you into a tight corner, tie a tin to trouble—a tidy red tin of Prince Albert! Tamp a load of this really friendly tobacco into the bowl of your jimmy-pipe and light up. Watch the sun crash through the clouds with every puff!

P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how fast you feed it, because the Prince Albert process gave Bite and Parch the air at the start. Cool as a Laplander's lap. Sweet as apple cider. Fragrant as spring blossoms. That's Prince Albert!

One pipe-load invites another. And . . . you can hit P. A. from morning till midnight and it won't hit back. Don't put off to tomorrow what you can smoke today. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. and turn on the sunshine . . . now!

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

NEW MEMBERS CHOSEN BY PI DELTA EPSILON

Twelve men were elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, the national honorary journalistic fraternity, at a meeting of the organization held on May 11. Only an editor-in-chief of a publication, a business manager of a publication, one who holds a minor office on one board and is a member of another board, or those who are members of three boards of three publications are eligible for membership.

The members elected were: Class of 1928, Julius A. Kuck, Frederick W. Leich, Jr., Reginald W. Lyon, Lester R. Mosher, Seymour M. Pitcher, Henry K. Yuan; Class of 1929, George Clark, Jr., Paul V. Combs. Theodore H. Ingalls, Theodore S. Corwin, Francis E. Mineka, and Nelson G. Russell.

Their qualifications for membership were: Kuck, business manager of Hamilton Life; Leich, editor-in-chief of Hamilton Life, member of the Press Board; Lyon, chairman of the Press Board; Lyon, chairman of the Press Board; Mosher, member of three boards; Pitcher, managing editor of Hamilton Life, member of the Press Board; Yuan, art editor of the 1928 Hamiltonian and the Royal Gaboon; Clark, member of three boards; Combs, editor-in-chief of the 1929 Hamiltonian, member of the Hamilton Life Board; Corwin, assistant business manager of Hamilton Life; Ingalls, business manager of the Royal Gaboon; Mineka, managing editor of the 1929 Hamiltonian, member of the Hamilton Life Board; and Russell, circulation manager of the 1929 Hamiltonian and member of the Press Board.

The initiation and banquet was scheduled to be held May 18, but has had to be postponed.

At the same meeting of Pi Delta Epsilon, Frederick A. Ballard, '28, was elected editor of the Handbook to succeed John B. Allen.

D. T'S TAP NEOPHYTES IN SPRING PLEDGING

Last Friday morning the D. T. Club, honorary sopohmore society, tapped 13 men as the class of 1930 filed out of chapel. D. T. is a Hamilton institution of many years' standing. Each year the membership is perpetuated by choosing 13 members from the freshmen class whom they consider to be the best all round men of that group.

Formerly members were chosen only from the national fraternities. Last year, however, the membership became eligible to all men possessing the necessary qualifications regardless of their affiliations.

This year's neophytes are Robert W. Parks, Frederick P. Tucker, Osgood R. Smith, Robert P. Carpenter, James F. Lawton, H. Hillman Palmer, Addison S. Lathrop, Henry R. Ford, Jr., Frank G. Vibberts, Philip Brooks Carlisle, Crosby T. Smelzer, Jr., Theodore Law, and William Jenks.

Henry C. Smith, '22, having received an M.D. degree at Johns Hopkins University last June, is now an interne at Bayview Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

Harold E. Russell '24, was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Dental School last June.

Rev. Jay G. Williams, '23, who has been ordained to the Welsh Presbyterian ministry, has become pastor of a church at Oshkosh, Wis.

—Philip C. Jessup, A.B., Phi Beta Kappa, '18, now a lecturer on international law at Columbia University, has been advanced to the rank of assistant professor, effective July 1.

HAMILTON EDGES OUT WIN OVER COLGATE

Buff and Blue came back in the seventh for their winning run. Scholtz's only walk of the game gave Chatfield his base. He went to third when Jones threw high into right field. Hope was low when both Worboys and King struck out, but Warren saved the day with a long single that put across the winning score.

In the remaining two innings Hamilton fought hard to hold their victory. Jack Morris pitched shutout ball, and was strongly supported by the infield. In the eighth, Welch walked, went to second on Richardson's grounder to Morris, but was stranded when Worboys took Steinburg's hopper and threw to MacLean at first for the putout. In the last inning a foul to Chatfield, a sacrifice and a long fly to Knox retired the Maroon batters.

As it was the first defeat Hamilton has given Colgate for a long time, there was much enthusiasm. Coach McBride deserves the gratitude that the student body showed for perfecting an aggregation capable of defeating a team that is generally considered among the big nines of the East.

comprises the opening part of the book, as usual. A picture of the board of trustees, a group photograph of most of the faculty, pictures of freshman teams, the Rod and Gun Club, the Ski and Snowshoe Club, and the Sig team that won the Deke cup are among the many illustrations. Most of the photos of the various fraternity houses are new ones, having been taken particularly for the year book.

All of the art work of the book has been done by Henry Yuan, '28, Art Editor. His work consists of imitation wood cuts for the Ex Libris page and the introductory pages of the different departments. A feature that has not been seen in the Hamiltonian for many years is the inclusion of fraternity coats of arms. It is done this year by printing the seal in a light ink, of the same color as the border, prior to the type impression in black. This has been done with most of the fraternities.

In the feature section, which is one of the most interesting parts of the book, are various articles designed to appeal to the humorous side of the reader. An account of an Alpha Delt house party, parody pictures of the class presidents, and many other delightful snapshots and stories make up this part of the Hamiltonian. Photos of many members of the class in interesting garbs and poses have been scattered through this part of the book also. The advertising section immediately following contains, as has been the custom in former years, snapshots of college scenes. One of the pictures in this section shows Hamilton College as it looked in the latter part of the last century and is entitled "Hamilton in the Gay Nineties."

The number of pages is 200, varying but slightly from that of former Hamiltonians.

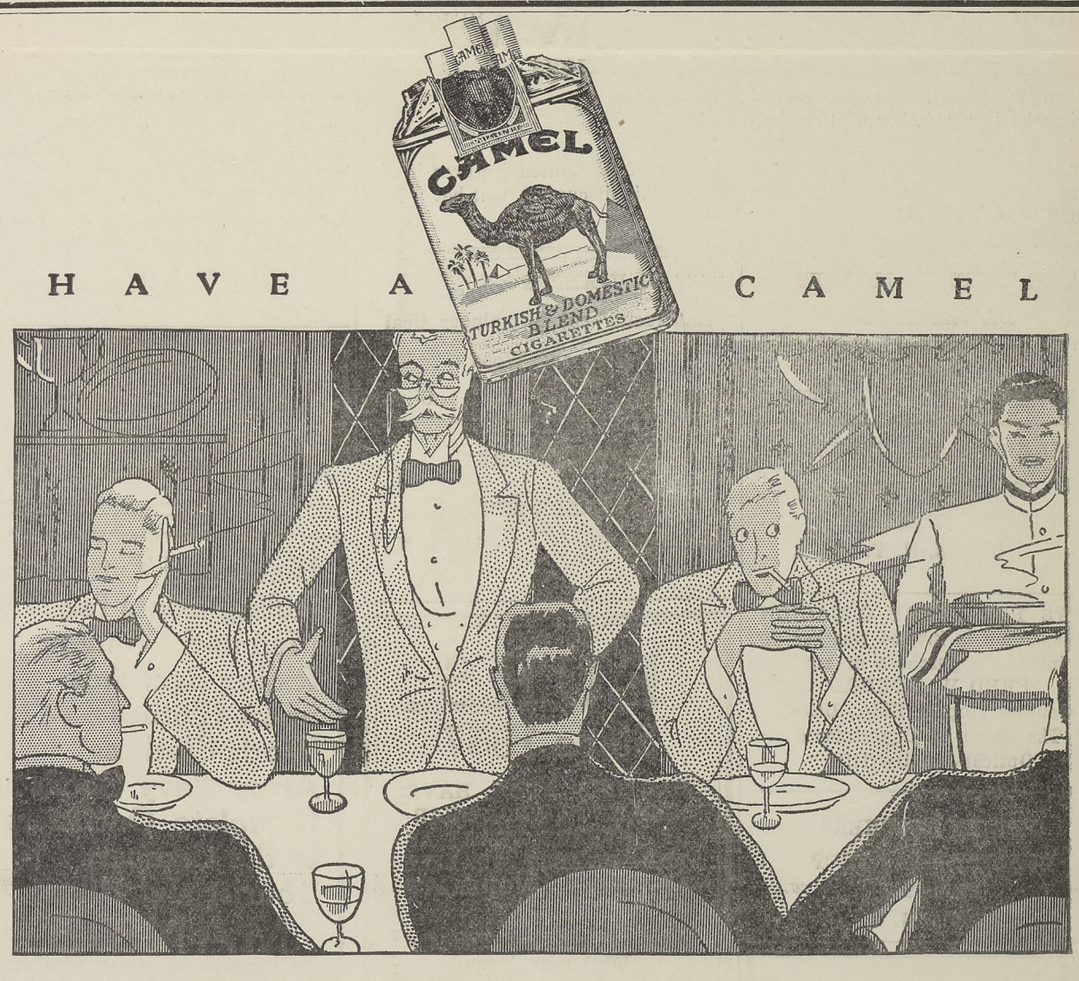
HAVE A CAMEL



Modern smoking pleasure that never fails

THE smokers of this age are the most independent ever known. Accepting no hearsay, they have smoked out the facts. They have learned that the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown are rolled into Camels, that here is the incomparable blending for goodness, that Camels simply never tire the taste.

Camel is the cigarette that never fails to please the modern age. Regardless of how often you want the comfort of a smoke, of how steadily you light one after another, Camel will never fail you, never give you any but the finest thrill of smoking pleasure. This is why Camel's popularity, by far the largest in the modern world, keeps overwhelmingly in the lead. As modern taste becomes more insistent upon choice tobaccos, increasing millions discover Camel's incomparable mildness, smoothness and mellowness.

If you want the cigarette that's good to live with from morn to midnight, the one that is the choice of the modern age, "Have a Camel!"
